

FCC Commissioners
The Federal Communications Commission RE: Docket 04-435
445 12th Street, SW
Washington, DC 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners ,

I am writing to voice my concerns about the FCC's proposal to relax the restrictions on the use of cell phones on airplanes in flight.

There is no hard evidence that cell phone use doesn't interfere with navigational instruments. The introduction of cell phone use in the cabin will not only increase tension among passengers, it will compromise flight attendants' ability to maintain order in an emergency. Cell phone use could also enable terrorists to coordinate a plan of action more effectively.

Imagine taking a long cross-country flight, and having to sit captive next to a cell phone junkie for hours. The social tension this will create will be huge. It would be impossible to read a book sitting next to a cell phone user. The worst part would be that you cannot get up and move away from the cell phone user. I cannot believe that the FCC is seriously considering this measure.

Please leave the current rules in effect.

Sincerely,

Carole Sedlak
